The Sharia – the foundation of the faith of Islam, its legal code - calls for the execution of ALL those renouncing Islam.

“The Muslim jurists are unanimous that apostates must be punished, yet they differ as to determining the kind of punishment to be inflicted upon them. The majority of them, including the four main schools of jurisprudence (Hanafi, Maliki, Shafi’i, and Hanbali) as well as the other four schools of jurisprudence (the four Shiite schools of Al-Ja`fariyyah, Az-Zaidiyyah, Al-Ithna-`ashriyyah, and Az-Zaheriyah) agree that apostates must be executed.”

Sheikh Yusuf al-Qaradawi – Scholar and Host of “Sharia and Life”

This is a direct contravention of international laws and is the reason why the Legalise Apostasy campaign started - to ensure that Muslims reform the Sharia and legalise apostasy.

The aim is to lawfully defend apostates and to legally call to account all politicians, lawyers, Imams and others who threaten them. The killing of apostates is the legal fissure in the foundation.

The US Library of Congress Report on the Islamic threat to apostates identifies 8 Muslim nations in which apostasy is a capital offence, and 15 other Muslim nations in which it is a crime – see: www.loc.gov/law/help/apostasy/index.php

The Legalise Apostasy campaign (www.legaliseapostasy.com) supports the aims of the Ex-Muslims Manifesto and Strategy for Sharia Reform to ensure:

In essence, we aim to ensure that the demands below are made to our governments whilst we still have the freedom to do so.

All non-Islamic states make the following demands to protect ex-Muslims:

- a. That the Ulema at Al Azhar University revoke the requirement in the Sharia that apostates from the religion of Islam should be killed by its adherents;
- b. That the UN require that Afghanistan, Brunei, Mauretania, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, the UAE and Yemen revoke their laws which threaten those leaving Islam with the death penalty;
- c. That our Government states that the Sharia has no place in any form in the country because of the genocidal threat it represents to apostates, and that all Sharia Councils etc., are to be closed forthwith.

Fill out the details below and sign in support of threatened ex-Muslims everywhere. Thank you!
